Convenience by Design

Shark Bite™ for street rods and classics has been designed with the builder or owner in mind by making it quick and easy to adjust the track during the build to fit a variety of frame and engine combinations. All the parts are laser cut and “self aligning” to allow a rapid accurate build. The engine cradle and frame space can be adjusted for width without affecting the suspension geometry through the use of sturdy, precision mounting end plates and uprights that lock in control arm location and position. All you do is select the track width and you’re ready to build. This along with coilover location bosses to make a solid, straight and true front end installation. A complete and accurate way to quickly mount a powerhouse front end to a classic, truck or scratch built rod!

Confidence by Design

For some time the rock solid performance of SharkBite™ Corvette suspension by SpeedDirect has been key in providing C2-C3 Corvette owners around the world with a rugged, modern suspension for an iconic sports car. This same technology can now be the center piece of your next project. We have given classic Corvette owners a reason to smile by putting fun in every corner. A Shark Bite™ for street rods and classic car owners can enjoy that same excitement and confidence in creating a car that is a joy to drive and behold; truly “Fun by design!”™.
